*NEW - This Little Light of Mine - For many churches, the leftover stubs of candles are a minor matter to store or dispose. For the homeless trying to survive a cold winter, those stubs can be life and death. By experience and ingenuity, many hard sleepers are able to get several hours of warmth from a single stub. These candles once burned in love for God; let their light shine in love of neighbor. Contact Ben Stephens at the Lehigh Conferences of Churches (610-439-8653, or email bstephens@lehighchurches.org), or take the candle stubs to the Conference at 1031 W Linden Street, Allentown

CELEBRATING WITH THE ELCA

Although there is change in the church as we know it in the Northeastern Pennsylvania Synod and in our Lehigh Mission District, we are obviously very grateful for the dedicated leadership provided at both levels by our Bishop and his staff and by our Dean and those working closely with him. There are also occasions when we are reminded of the uniqueness of our relationship to the ELCA and its skilled leadership. Recent publications have called our attention to several of these arenas.

For instance, I was moved very positively by the note that The Rev. Amy E. Reumann, Director of Advocacy for the ELCA, was celebrating our relationship with eco America and Blessed Tomorrow. This accents the fact that the ELCA is taking seriously the need to be involved in work around climate issues affecting our world. Although it is clear that the road to resolving these dilemmas will be long, it is heartening to be reminded that the national church body of which we are a part is committed to being actively involved in the process. The effectiveness of this mission is deserving of our continuing thoughts and prayers.

Alongside of this good news we learned that concerns about our Domestic Mission are under the leadership of a new Director. The Rev. Philip Hirsch has recently been elected to a four-year renewable term in this capacity. I was impressed by his statement of concern about his challenge. He said, "I believe that Jesus Christ is the light of the world and the hope for our broken humanity. I look forward to helping our church grow in its ability to connect a younger and more ethnically and economically diverse people with the gospel". Obviously, we look forward to his leadership in this significant arena of concern. We anticipate that it will help to develop appropriate leadership for the future of the ELCA.

We have also been informed that John D. Sundquist was recently elected Executive Director of Lutheran Men in Mission by its Board of Directors, replacing the retiring Doug Haugen, who held this position for 26 "fruitful and spirit-filled" years. We are told that, as an ordained American Baptist pastor, John was a senior pastor and former youth director in 5 congregations in 3 mid-western states from 1992 to 2008. He also held several senior-level positions in the nonprofit sector related to the American Baptist Church.

Yes, the world is changing and, although our primary commitment to affirming the Gospel of Jesus Christ will never change, the church needs to be open to evolving new and contemporary methodology for its proclamation of this truth. And it is indeed encouraging to be reminded that the ELCA is making appropriate decisions to facilitate our changing world. Obviously, we give thanks for its leadership in this on-going process.

God Bless!
Pastor Stough
